Art, Design and Fashion is a world I was instantly drawn to by being born and raised in New York City. Immediately I fell in love with all things design. I decided while attending Queensborough Community College to focus on Design and Technology. I was always fascinated with the World Wide Web and the unlimited possibilities that come with it. Design and Technology is forever changing and after graduating with an Associates Degree in New Media Technology, my goal was to always be ahead of the game. From designing minimalistic websites before it became a trend, to using new platforms/frameworks before they become popular. I strive to always create pixel perfect user-friendly websites that people can instantly love and easily navigate.
